A practice across art, design, textiles, and materials.

Arisara Dangprapai is a Bangkok-based artist, textile and product designer, curator, and founder of Arisara Studio. Her practice moves between art and design, with textiles, fibers, materials, and craft at its core. Through artworks, objects, installations, material research, and collaborative projects, she explores how familiar materials and processes can be transformed into new forms, meanings, and shared experiences.

PRACTICE

Textile & Fiber · Material Research · Art & Installation · Object & Product Design · Creative Direction · Curatorial Practice
Consulting · Teaching & Workshops · Community & Cross-disciplinary Collaboration

Material · Space · Shared Experience

MAD PROJECT

Meaningful · Artistic · Diverse

A collaborative platform connecting neurodiverse artists with artisans, designers, manufacturers, and Thai brands through creative co-production.

ENTANGLED CITY: THREADS OF LIFE

Installation · Textile · Material Exploration

From material behavior to object.

MUSHROOM — MAWATA POSSIBILITIES

Lighting · Textile · Material Exploration

COMMUNITY-BASED MACRAMÉ OBJECTS

Baling Twine · Macramé · Community Collaboration

APPROACH

Her work often begins with material: its origin, behavior, memory, limitations, and potential. Hands-on experimentation is combined with design development, craft knowledge, and collaborative processes. Art, design, and community practice become connected ways of discovering new possibilities in familiar materials, techniques, and ideas.
